The English captain won the toss, and elected to bat. W. G. Grace and A. E. Stoddart are batting, to the bowling of Turner and Trumble.

A great fire has taken place at Minneapolis, in the State of Minnesota, U.S.A. Two hundred houses have been burned, and 1,500 persons are rendered homeless.

The following are the respective teams:

England: W. G. Grace (Lancashire), W. H. Lockwood (Sussex), M. Giffen (Cambridge University), A. E. Stoddart (Middlesex), A. Ward (Lancashire), F. S. Jackson (Cambridge University), A. Shrewsbury (Nottingham), W. Gunn (Nottingham), and W. W. Read (Sussex).

Australia: J. Lyons, G. Giffen, A. C. Bannerman, G. H. S. Trotter, R. M. Leed, S. Gregory, H. Graham, W. Bruce, C. T. B. Turner, H. Trumble, and J. M. Blackham.

The attendance on the ground is enormous, the greatest interest being taken in the match.

W. G. Grace, captain of the home team, won the toss and elected to bat; Grace himself and Stoddart being the first to go to the wickets. The bowling was entrusted to Turner and Trumble.

The wicket being very fast, it was not long before the batsmen commenced to score. They soon got thoroughly set. Trotter, Bruce, Leed, and Giffen were tied with the ball, but run continued to come, and Turner and Trumble went on again. Stoddart gave two difficult chances. The fielding of the Australians is brilliant, especially that of Graham.

Stoddart, not out, 50; W. G. Grace, not out, 41.

At the adjournment for lunch the score stood at 134 runs, with no wicket down.

Stoddart, after being missed in the slips, played a ball on to his wicket. His score included 11 fours.

Grace was caught in the slips at the same total.

The wicket was true and very fast. Neither Grace nor Stoddart appeared easy at the start, several of their strokes being lucky hits. Stoddart was missed when he had scored 3. They soon, however, settled down, and played quiet, stylish cricket; 48 runs were scored in the first hour. M. Leed and Trotter, who had relieved Turner and Trumble, were punished by the batsmen. The first 100 runs were made in 50 minutes. The scoring became faster after lunch. Stoddart, who during his innings had given two difficult chances, played a ball on to his wicket and retired. Grace was soon afterwards taken in the slips by Giffen, having scored 68 by excellent cricket. He made nine fours. Gunn, who succeeded, played a steady innings of 16, when he was bowled by Giffen with his second ball. Giffen, having just previously relieved Trumble, took two wickets for 200. Shrewsbury and Ward started cautiously. The fielding of the Australians, which up to this point had been brilliant, now slackened off somewhat, and runs soon began to be put on at a faster rate. There were frequent changes in the bowling, Bruce, Giffen, M. Leed, Turner, and Trumble being tried in succession, but without effect. Lyons was also put on to bowl. Shrewsbury and Ward added 103 between them before the former was finally caught by Graham at long-on. His score included nine fours. Ward, after scoring 55, was splendidly caught later by Giffen with one hand off his own bowling, the catch being taken very high. Jackson played dashing cricket for his 49 not out, although he was missed by Gregory off a high drive when he had scored 35. W. W. Read also batted steadily. When the stumps were drawn for the day the score stood at 378 with five wickets down.

August 15th.

In the test match between England and Australia, on the Kensington Oval, the Australians commenced their first innings by sending in Lyons and Bannerman. Both batsmen scored steadily off M. Leed and Lockwood. Briggs went on in place of M. Leed, and Lyons was clean bowled with the third ball he received from the new bowler. Trotter, who joined Bannerman, soon afterwards played a ball on to his wicket, and retired without scoring. Bannerman, after scoring 10, was caught.

At the adjournment for lunch the score was 33 for three wickets.

Graham was out at the fourth ball he received, the score then standing at 32. Gregory, who played with confidence, lost his wicket at 40. Giffen retired eight runs later from exactly the same stroke that caused the dismissal of Bannerman and Graham, the field being very close in. Trumble was nearly run out, but played steadily for several overs, till Briggs completely beat him. M. Leed was out tamely from the second ball he received. Eight wickets for 95. Turner made two good hits, but was dismissed at 69. Blackham played a vigorous innings, but was run out from a hard drive, which Jackson nearly caught. Bruce batted steadily, carrying out the ball. The innings, which had lasted 10 minutes, closed for 100 runs.

The fall of 50 of the Australians to score is inimitable, as the wicket was playing very true.

Being in a minority of 302 runs, the Australians had to follow on, Bannerman and Bruce opening the second innings to the bowling of M. Leed and Briggs. The batsmen scored rapidly, 50 runs being made in half an hour. Bruce was smartly taken in the slips by Jackson when the scoring board registered 34. Bannerman and Giffen made a fine stand. Frequent changes in the bowling were resorted to, Jackson, among others, being tried. A hundred runs were raised in an hour and a quarter, but when the score stood at 125 Bannerman asked a ball to mid-on, which was taken by Read. Trotter filled the vacant crease, and Giffen played out time. The score stood at two wickets for 158 runs.
